

ABA:71836840

MD

This is an axial brain scan, likely a PET or SPECT image, showing a cross-section of the brain. The image is predominantly blue, indicating low levels of metabolic activity. A small, bright, yellowish-orange spot is visible in the left hemisphere, near the center, which suggests a focal area of increased metabolic activity or a lesion. The brain is divided into four quadrants by a vertical and a horizontal white line.